ISAAC MELVIN ABRAHAMSON "Mel"

Intramural basketball (1, 2, 3, 4); Home Room Collector (3); Sophomore Reception Committee (3); "A Bargain's a Bargain" (4); "Campus Capers" (4); Winter Concert (4); Boys' Glee Club (4); Orchestra (1).

Melvin is one of our Seniors who has taken up acting. During his high school career his happy manner and witty quips have made many friends for him. We know that he will continue to make friends next year at Mass. State.

MARTHA LOUISE ALGER "Mart"

O. G. A. Certificate (4); Intramural basketball (1,2,3 Manager, 4); Tennis (1, 2, 3, 4).

"Mart" is that red-head who excels in every sport. She has won many tennis matches, and she is also a good scholar. We don't know what plans "Mart" has for the future, but her initiative should carry her far.

CLINTON WRIGHT ALLEN "Bud"

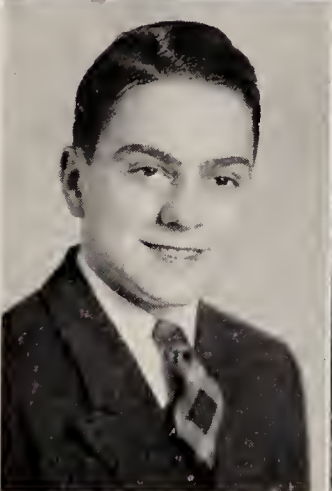

Pro Merito (4); Intramural basketball (1, 2, 3, 4); Tennis (3); Guidance Council (2); Home Room Collector (2); Sophomore Reception Committee (3); Winter Concert (2, 3, 4); "Campus Capers" (4); Band (2, 3, 4); Assembly Orchestra (2, 3, 4); Orchestra (2, 3, 4); Boys' Glee Club (4); Silver G (4).

"Bud" has been very interested in music during his stay in high school. He is also an accomplished dancer. He, along with Abrahamson and Babits, has provided many lively minutes during class. Good luck to you, "Bud," wherever you go.

JOHN ARTHUR ALLEN "Jack"

Baseball (2, 3, 4); Football (1, 2); Intramural basketball (4).

"Jack's" great interest has been baseball and he is known to all for his fairness and fair play. His closest friends have been the boys in the Vocational course, especially the Machine Shop of which "Jack" has proved himself a valuable member.

GEORGE FRANCIS BABITS "Babi"

Pro Merito (4); Football (3, 4); Hockey (2, 4); Intramural basketball (2, 3); Sophomore Reception Committee (3); Dance Committee (4); "Cock-Robin" (4); "A Bargain's a Bargain" (4); "Campus Capers" (4); Alpha Beta Pi Amateur Show (4); Hi-Y (4); Guidance Council (3); Student Council (4).

George has been very active during his high school career in both athletics and dramatics. He can always be seen with a certain blonde. His plans are still indefinite but he will certainly have happiness and success.

CAROLYN GIBBS BAILEY "Carlie"

Intramural basketball (1, 2); "Co-ed's Night Out" (3); "Campus Capers" (4); Winter Concert (2); Delta Sigma Rho (3, 4); Glee Club (2, 3 Librarian, 4 Secretary).

"Carlie" is an energetic and talented musician, being an accomplished pianist. She is quiet but a great deal of fun, and has a wide circle of friends.

DAVID JASON BAKER "Dave"

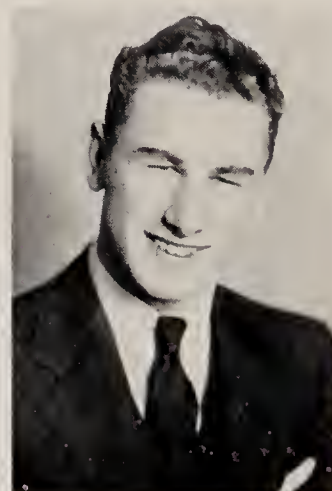

Football (4); Hi-y (4); Commercial Club (4).

"Dave" is a big husky fellow with a wide smile for everyone. He can always be seen with George Caron. His chief interest seems to be centered at Northfield. We don't know his plans, but he will be happy.

EMILIE SMITH BAKER "Emilie"

Alpha Beta Pi (3, 4).

Emilie is a very quiet person, but her best friends know her to be a good sport. She has not been very active in high school but has won many friends with her gentle manner. A member of the Bingville gang, she has had many good times. She is planning to be a music teacher. Good luck, Emilie.

LOUISE MAY BALL

"Red"

Intramural basketball (2).

Louise is a quiet and friendly red-head. She is interested in vocational work. Gladys Woodard and Mabel Gardner are her constant companions. Louise hasn't been very active in school activities, but we are told she has lots of outside interests. Best of luck, "Red."

LOUIS BATINSKI

"Louie"

Football (2, 3, 4); Track (3, 4); Hockey (4); Intramural basketball (4).

"Louie" is another one of our outstanding athletes hailing from the West End. The football squad surely will miss his magnificent tackling and defense work next year. "Louie" has not taken part in any club activities as all his time is devoted to sports. He plans to attend some college and we know he will make good.

SOPHIE BATINSKI

"Batty"

Pro Merito; Intramural basketball (3); Commercial Club (4).

"Batty" Batinski, and is she an athlete! Just ask someone in her Gym classes to tell you about the power she puts behind her kicks and hits. "Batty" hasn't taken much interest in school activities and some people may have the impression that she's a quiet girl, but you wouldn't know her once she gets started. Sophie is quite a brilliant commercial student, and her name is always on the Honor Roll.

HENRY CARROLL BECKLO

"Hennie"

Football (2); Basketball (2, 3, 4); Baseball (3); Guidance Council (2); Class Marshal (4).

"Hennie" is a boy of great activity, whether in sports or in school corridors. He is of the jolly, happy-go-lucky type that we seldom see. He is the pinkslip fiend of our class, and if he didn't get a pinkslip almost every day, he'd probably faint. All in all, he's a swell boy.

THOMAS JOSEPH BELTON, JR.

"Tommy"

Intramural basketball (2, 3, 4); Intramural baseball (3); "Cock Robin" (4); Science Club (2, 3); Glee Club (4); Hi-Y (4).

"Tommy" will be remembered for his excellent portrayal of John Jessup in "Who Killed Cock Robin." His interests are many and varied; he likes athletics and is an enthusiastic member of the Glee Club. Tommy has a certain "way" about him that makes him popular with everyone. He is rather quiet in school, but just wait until he's outside!

MARY ELIZABETH BERGERON

"Mary"

Pro Merito (3, 4); Year Book Staff (4); Class Secretary (2, 3, 4); Guidance Council (3, 4); Sophomore Reception (3); Alpha Beta Pi (3, 4 Secretary).

Who doesn't know good-natured Mary? She is a very cheerful girl and one of the best students in the Class of 1938. We know she has many social activities besides her school extras. As a class officer she has done excellent work. She is a very popular girl and is a most dependable friend of all who know her.

BENJAMIN BLUM

"Ben"

Tennis (2); Exponent (2).

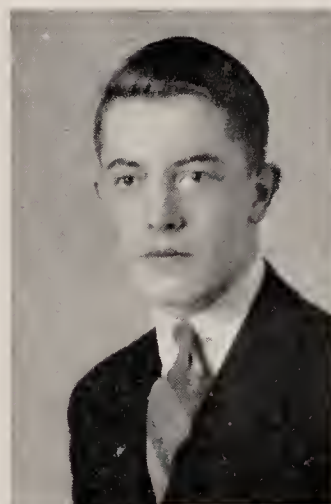

If you wish to lose an argument, try having one with "Ben." He can produce more evidence for his side than you ever thought existed. He's just as zealous, too, in preparing himself for his future, so watch out.

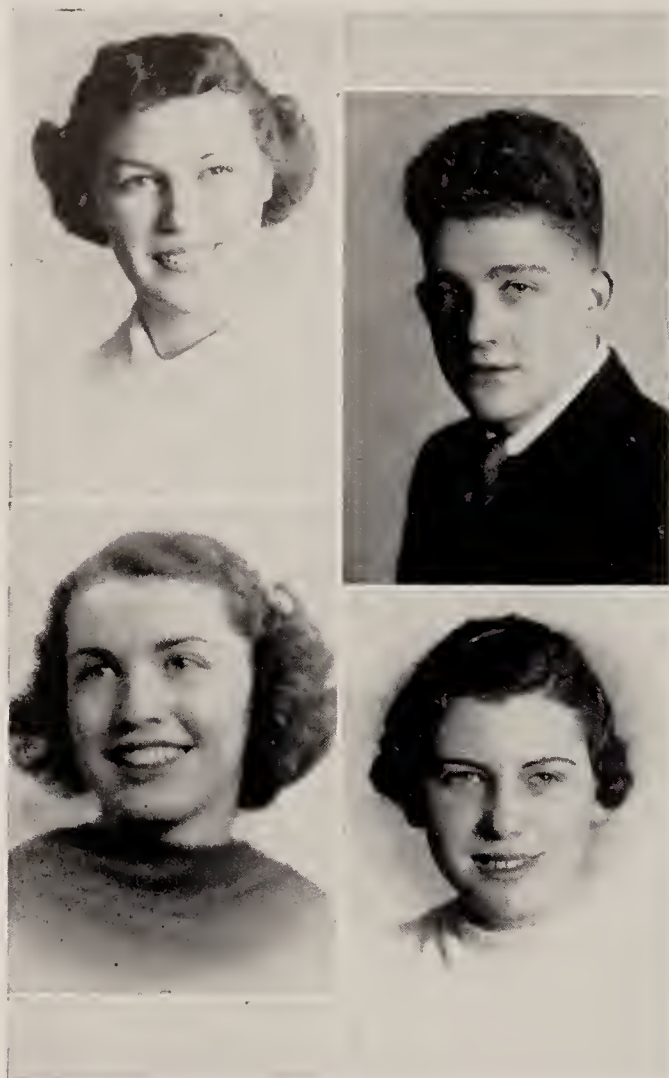

STANLEY WALTER BONCEK

"Stash"

Hockey (4).

When you see "Stash" look for his friend "Eddie." The two make a grand combination, especially when it comes to having a good time. "Stash" is noted for his strong voice and his ability to use it in an argument.

HELEN LOUISE BONK "Bonkie"

Pro Merito (3, 4 Vice-President); Theory Certificate; Penmanship Pin; 60-80 Certificates; Intramural basketball (2, 3); Second team (2); Varsity (3); Year Book Staff (4); Guidance Council (2 President, 3, 4); Junior Dance Committee; Art Club (4); S.A.S. Collector (2); Senior Play Usher (4).

A happy girl with a winning smile and a cheerful personality is "Bonkie." She is always accompanied by a host of friends. She is an excellent student but always has time for fun. "Bonkie" is rather interested in hairdressing. It seems to us that she would do very well in the secretarial field, too. Best of luck to her in any position.

GEORGE KENNETH BOUTWELL "Ken"

"Ken" has been inactive in school affairs, but his preoccupied mien might indicate an observing interest elsewhere. He is one of those people who are not often heard in school. Who knows what he's like with "the gang"? He seems to be interested in science. "Ken" is always willing to cooperate and as a result has won many friends in his high school career.

PAULINE LENEITA BRIGGS "Pickles"

Gregg Progress Pin; Intramural Basketball (2, 3, 4); Tennis (2, 3, 4); Soccer (2); Guidance Council (2); "Campus Capers" (4); Archery Club (2); Art Club (4); Glee Club (2); Cheer Leader (4).

"Pickles" is that small vivacious girl with the sparkling brown eyes whom we remember for her valiant efforts trying to make us yell during cheering practice and at the games. She is also popular on the dance floor doing the "Big Apple" with the rest of the "gang." Even though she takes part in many social activities in school she finds time for "Bill" and her many other friends. Petite "Pickles" plans to be a hairdresser in the near future.

ALTHEA IRENE BRIGHAM "Al"

Gregg Progress Pin; Theory Certificate.

"Al" has been active in commercial work and hopes some day to be someone's secretary. We hope she succeeds! She pals around with "Burkie" and often can be seen after school waiting for the bus. Working silently and diligently, she never leaves a task undone. "Al" has a pleasing personality and is liked by all, and with her many friends to spur her on she'll be a great success.

NINA MARGARET ELLEN BRITTON "Nina"

Gregg Progress Pin; Theory Certificate; Intramural Basketball (2); Exponent (4); Year Book Staff (4).

Nina is always in a calm, cool, and collected frame of mind. She is so quiet that you would hardly know she is present, but she is full of surprises. On the basketball floor her steadiness shows results when she shoots for baskets. Nina's plans for the future are indefinite, but with her nonchalant manner and personality, she is sure to get along under any circumstances.

HELEN MEEHAN BROUGHAN "Helen"

Gregg Progress Pin.

Helen is the girl you see rushing in just about on time each morning. She hasn't spent much time in extra-curricular activities, but she has gained many friends with her winning smile and bright blue Irish eyes. And you know that "When Irish Eyes Are Smiling" everyone feels happy. Helen has not decided what she wants to do after graduation, but with her soft voice and friendly disposition she should succeed anywhere.

DONALD FRANK BROWN "Don"

Football (2, 3); Baseball (2, 3); Intramural basketball (4).

Donald is one of the boys from Riverside, and in his own quiet way has made his mark in the Vocational Course, especially in Cabinet Shop. With his interest centering in sports he has made himself a valued member of many of the G. H. S. teams.

HENRY RONALD BRUNELLE "Frenchie"

Although school activities have not occupied "Frenchie's" time, he has become popular with the boys in the Vocational Department. He lives on Lampblack Road and enjoys the outdoor sports of hunting and fishing. "Frenchie" is a short fellow but manages to get the "cream of the crop." He has a secret admiration for Jeanette, but other girls do not bother him. His days in G. H. S. have been worthwhile and will see him to the top.

HELEN JANET BRZEZINSKI "Bruzzy"

Intramural basketball (2).

"Bruzzy" is an athletic-minded person enjoying all sports, particularly skating. She makes many of her own clothes which are always attractive. She is friendly with everyone and, although many of her interests lie in other places, she has many friends in school. "Bruzzy" appears to be quiet, but where there is fun she is sure to be. Keep your sunny disposition and the best is yours!

FRANCIS JAMES BULMAN "Frannie"

Gregg Theory Certificate; O. G. A. Penmanship; Exponent (4); Year Book Staff (4); Art Club (4); Commercial Club (4).

A cheery "hello" and a ready smile — that's "Frannie." He is always seen in the corridors talking and laughing with some of his friends. He enjoys music with plenty of swing and does his part in the "Big Apple" with the ability of a professional. Club meetings aren't complete without "Frannie's" witty puns, and unfailing appetite. His ambition is to become an undertaker, but don't let that scare you.

ELEANOR MAE BURKE "Burkie"

Gregg Progress Pin; Theory Certificate; Intramural basketball (2, 3, 4); Soccer (2, 3); Glee Club (4).

"Burkie" is a quiet, good-natured person. She certainly showed her athletic ability and sportsmanship in the intramurals. If you want to find her in a hurry just look for Virginia or "Al" and she is sure to be there. Her shy smile and unassuming ways have won her many friends in school and outside. Her pluck and willingness to help will steer her straight up the ladder of success.

RICHARD CALVIN BURNHAM "Red"

Pro Merito (3, 4); Gregg Theory Award; 60-80 Certificates; Baseball Manager (3, 4).

A flash of red hair heralds the approach of this cheerful boy. Besides being known for his scholastic achievements, he is easily recognized for his sense of humor. Indeed, instead of possessing the habitual red-head's temper, "Red" is a grand pal and a swell sport. He has done much for our baseball team and certainly deserves the appreciation of his classmates.

ROSEBELLE VICTORIA BURNHAM "Rose"

Intramural basketball (2, 3, 4).

"Rose" is a likable blonde who is rather quiet and shy. However, her shyness has not prevented her from making a great number of friends. Indeed, it is often suspected that her time is taken up by a very engrossing outside interest. No doubt her many friends will never forget her friendliness and companionship.

BARBARA MYRLE BUTEMENT "Barbie"

Pro Merito (4); Intramural basketball (1, 4); Exponent (4); Year Book Staff (4); "A Bargain's a Bargain" (Prompter) (4); Delta Sigma Rho (2, 3, 4 Vice-President).

"Barbie" is that sweet Senior who has been so cooperative and helpful in all school affairs. In addition, she is one of the best dressed girls in the class. If you simply can't figure out that algebra problem, just ask "Barbie," who'll be glad to give you any help. We wonder whether or not she receives her inspiration from Cornell.

RICHARD HERBERT CADE "Dick"

Although he is often called shy, this tall, dark-haired boy has been the center of many merry groups. His keen sense of humor has proclaimed him to be a master in the art of enlivening any gathering. "Dick" attends all the school dances and is usually accompanied by a blonde from Room 26. Who can forget his friendly manner and cheerful attitude?

JAMES FREDERICK CAHILL "Jimmy"

Orchestra (2, 3, 4 President); Band (4); Winter Concert (4).

"Jimmy" is that cheerful boy who always seems to have a new joke to tell. No gathering can be quiet if "Jimmy" is around. However, he seems to enjoy trips to North Adams and yet refuses to tell anyone the reason. Of course, he's a very famous Bingville resident and has certainly gained recognition for the little "suburb."

SHIRLEY ROBERTA CAMPBELL

"Soup"

Exponent (4); Year Book Staff (4); Archery (2,3); Alpha Beta Pi (4).

Shirley's ability to talk and her lively interest in everything she undertakes have helped her to become a very popular Senior. Her chief interests are Chemistry and Alpha Beta Pi, and she spends much time on each.

NORMAN BERTRAM CAREY

"Hank"

Basketball (2, 3); Baseball (3); Hi-Y (4).

Crash! Bang! Boom! Here comes "Hank," who's just a rough and ready hunter at heart. He's quite a well-known figure up around North Parish and the Grange. Indeed, he rates a good deal of credit both on the G. H. S. and on the North Parish basketball floors. G. H. S. will miss his ever-ready smile.

GEORGE WILLIAM CARON

"Georgie"

Home Room Collector (2); Stamp Club (4 President).

George is a typical outdoor man and may also be called exceedingly shy. Most of us remember him as the usher who works at the "Vic." He is well-known among his friends as a good pal and a grand friend. We are indebted to him for his quiet cooperation and industry.

GERTRUDE ETHEL CARPENTER

"Gerty"

Intramural basketball (2, 3, 4).

"Gerty" is a well-known "tomboy" of our class and is recognized by her amicable and jovial manner. A hearty hail and a broad smile also reveal her presence. If "Gerty" is around accompanied by her usual wisecracks, there is never a dull moment. Always seen with her pal, Fay, she has helped enliven many G. H. S. classes.

WILLIAM JOSEPH CARROLL

"Bill"

Intramural basketball (2, 3, 4); Hockey (4); Track (4).

Whiz! That must be "Bill" riding by in his Buick. This well-known car always manages to take him where the most fun is to be had. Some people have the mistaken idea that he's quiet. However, we all certainly do agree on the fact that he flashes one of the best-known grins in G. H. S. Accompanied by the rest of his "gang," he has enlivened many a school dance and entertainment.

RUTH EILEEN CASEY

"Ruthy"

Pro Merito (4); Exponent (4); Year Book Staff (4); "Co-eds' Night Out" (3); "Campus Capers" (4); Alpha Beta Pi (3, 4); Glee Club (3, 4); Art Club (3).

"Ruthy" is one of our shyest and sweetest classmates. Also, she's acquired a kind of fame in G. H. S. for her disposition, which always seems to be just a little bit sweeter than anyone else's. Often seen with her pal "Winnie," she has been one of our best contributors to "The Exponent." G. H. S. will miss her smile.

EARL JOSEPH CASH

"Monk"

Football (3); Intramural basketball (3, 4).

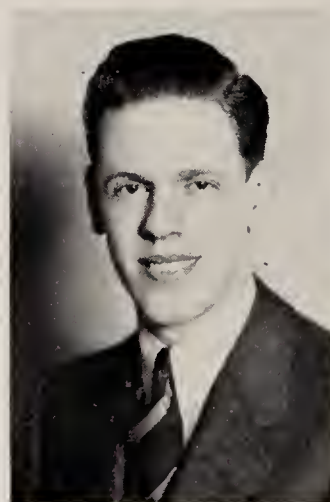

Of all our square-shouldered athletes who roar on the field amid the noise and shouts of the gang, "Monk" Cash is one of the best known. By this we mean that he, at one time or another, during his high school career, played football. But, "Monk" is also interested in other sports, such as basketball. He is one of these shy, reserved persons, who, although far from spectacular, are genuinely liked by all.

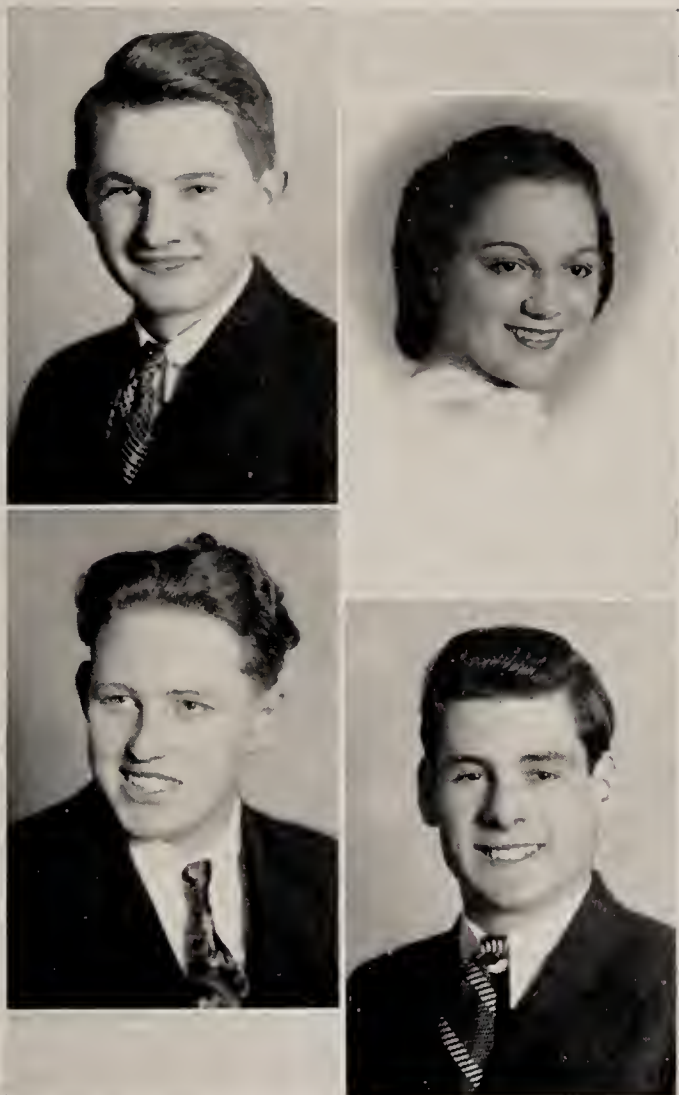

MARION BALDWIN CATLIN

"Irie"

Exponent (3, 4); Exchange Editor (4); Year Book Staff (4); Football Dance Committee (4); Winter Concert (2, 3, 4); "Campus Capers" (4); "Cock Robin" (4); "A Bargain's a Bargain" (4); "Co-eds' Night Out" (3); Delta Sigma Rho (3, 4); Glee Club (2, 3, 4); A Capella Choir (4); Musical Executive Committee (4); Silver G (3, 4); Guidance Council (3, 4); Student Council (3, 4); Pro Merito (3, 4); New England Competition (3, 4); State Competition (3, 4).

"Irie" is known by all to be a good sport, a barrel of fun, and a loyal trooper all rolled into one. She is what is commonly called a "good mixer," and because of this particular trait is tremendously popular with all members of her class. She is interested in music and a participant in all musical festivities. She is also a sports enthusiast, and no game is complete without "Irie's" lusty yelling behind the lines.

WILLIAM PETER CERAUSKIS

"Willie"

"Willie" is another member in our league of shyer boys, but again is the general favorite of many. It seems that, through observation, "Willie" is partial to dark-eyed damsels who entertain him in his home room.

ALMA JEAN CHAFFEE

"Al"

Year Book Staff (4); Guidance Council (4); "Campus Capers" (4); "Co-ed's Night Out" (3); Winter Concert (3, 4); Glee Club (3, 4).

"Al" has not been with us all through school, but joined us in her Junior year. Despite this, she has made many friends in the time that she has been in Greenfield High School. She is a hard worker and lives up rigidly to all rules and regulations. "Al" is very interested in music and has participated in the various concerts presented by the Glee Club.

HARRY ANDY COATES, JR.

"Red"

Commercial Club (4).

"Red," although a trifle on the quiet side, is known and liked by many. Although not an actual participant in them, he is a great sports enthusiast and follows the games with a rare knowledge and interest. He is a member of the Commercial course and is making a fine showing in his various studies.

MICHAEL ANGELO COCCO

"Cocco Kid"

Art Club (4).

Cocco may be classed as one of our shyer students, but we do not know whether or not it is this trait which makes him so popular with the lower classmen. Nevertheless, he is not far behind many of the Don Juans of the Senior class. "Mike" is also interested in sports, especially boxing, and has been in the ring with many an opponent.

KATHERINE ELIZABETH CONLEY

"Betty"

Gregg Penmanship Award (3); Intramural basketball (2); Exponent (2); Guidance Council (3); Usher at commencement (3).

"Betty" is what is whole-heartedly termed a "grand kid." She is possessed of the finest of personalities and the ability to make friends, of which she has many. She is an ardent sports fan and is particularly interested in football, basketball and redheads. "Betty" can be relied on at all times to do her part by contributing her time, efforts, or what-have-you, to the task at hand.

ELIZABETH MYRA COTTON

"Betty"

Intramural basketball (2).

"Betty" is a dark-eyed, good natured girl from Room 15. She always has a sweet smile for everyone and 2:00 o'clock finds her hard at work at her studies in her home room. She plans to go in training as a nurse after she graduates. We know "Betty" will make a very pretty as well as efficient nurse.

JULIA ELIZABETH COUTURE

"Babe"

Soccer (2); Intramural basketball (2, 3); Dramatic Club (3); Art Club (4).

Julia's quiet ways conceal her many interests. She has become best known around school by her work as office girl, delivering those looked-for pink slips. Her low voice and blonde hair are her outstanding characteristics.

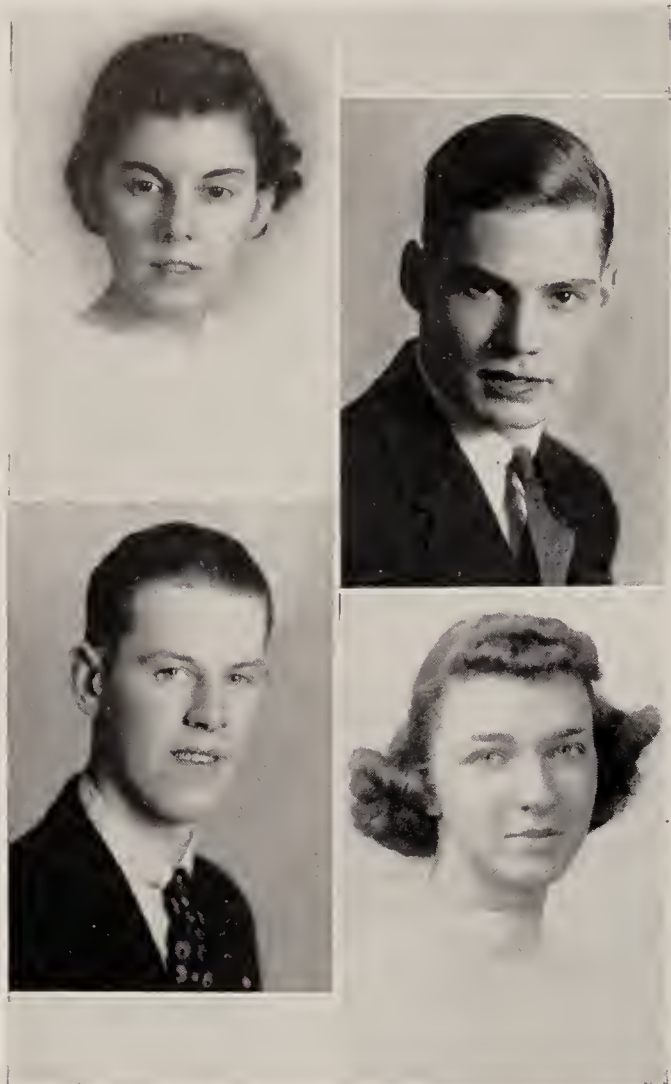

ARLINE MAE COWDREY

"Poochie"

Intramural basketball (2, 3, 4); Winter Concert (2, 3); Glee Club (2); Delta Sigma Rho (2); Student Council (2).

This peppy Senior is so full of fun that she just can't stay still. We've never seen her serious even during the "Chem" midyears, and high school will seem dreary with "Poochie" gone. She plans to go in training in New York. We're sure that everyone she comes in contact with will like her as well as we do.

KATHERINE MARY CRAMER

"Kay"

Gregg Penmanship award (4).

"Kay" is the pretty dark-eyed girl who is seen riding in "Bill's" Oldsmobile so much. She hasn't been very interested in extra-curricular activities, but what she undertakes she always does well. She has won a place in all our hearts with her quiet manner and her shy smile. The Class of '38 wishes you good luck, "Kay."

MERLE LESLIE CRANSON

"Merle"

Merle hasn't had much of a chance to get into the social side of Greenfield High, as he came to us at the first of the Senior year from Arms Academy. He is very pleasant and always has a smile ready for use. We wish we might have known you longer, Merle.

DONALD RAYMOND CROMACK, JR.

"Donnie"

Tennis (3, 4 Captain); Intramural basketball (4).

Although Donald has not been very active in extra-curricular activities, he has been very active in everything else. The only thing he takes seriously is his French, and you are just out of luck if you want to talk to him and don't know French. His favorite subject is chemistry and nearly every night finds him in the Chem. Lab. Who knows but "Donnie" may yet become a French chemist.

ELIZABETH CROSSMAN

"Betty"

GEORGE FRAIL TAYLOR

"Hank"

Track (3).

"Hank" has been very quiet during his high school career, and the fact that he lives in Leyden kept him from many extra-curricular activities. However, he has proved to be a conscientious worker both in shop and academic classes and he has made many friends by his willing cooperation and studious habits.

ROBERT FRANCIS THAYER

"Bob"

Intramural basketball (2, 3); Golf Manager (3, 4).

GORDON WILLIAM THURLOW

"Stinky"

Assistant Manager Football (4); Intramural basketball (2, 3, 4); Hockey Manager (4); "Cock Robin" (4).

What a boy! "Stinky" is one of the smallest members of our class and whenever you hear a lot of noise you will be sure to find "Stinky" right in the middle of it. "Stinky" is also noted for being one of the first to start such college fads as bright colored stockings, beer jackets and the famous college walk. If you don't know about this walk ask him.

ANNA MARY TRZPIS

"Tripsy"

Intramural basketball (1, 2); Usher at Commencement (3).

"Tripsy" is that cheerful curly-head who is seen about the corridors of G. H. S. She is another representative of the "West Enders" and is a good one, too. Anna's fine personality is sure to be a favorable asset toward her success.

LUCILLE MARY RITA VIENS

"Lou"

Intramural basketball (1, 2); Concert (2); Glee Club (1, 2).

"Lou" is a sweet little girl who always has a cheery smile for everyone, a hard worker and a true friend. She has contributed more than her share to the Class of '38, and we feel sure that she will make a brilliant success of whatever career she undertakes.

JOHANNA MARIE VISSER

"Wandy" is another member of the West End gang. Although he has not taken an active part in school activities his pleasant attitude has won him many friends. His main interests are sports.

ROBERT ALDEN WASHER

"Bob"

Guidance Council (2); Band (2).

For the larger part of his high school days "Bob" journeyed over from Millers Falls, but lately has been coming in from Northfield. His cheerfulness and willingness to help here made him many friends, and his curly hair has been the envy of many a girl.

PAUL EDWARD WELCOME

"Paul"

"Margie" has been active in Scout work as well as the social side of school. She received her Golden Eaglet award in her Senior year. Because of her general good nature and ready smile she is very popular with the students. "Margie" plans to go on to college next year.

ROBERT CARL WHEELER

"Bob"

"Bob" is a quiet sort of chap who is well known by his bright remarks every once in a while. He hasn't taken part in any activities during his school life, but usually gathers with his friends outside of school and cooperates in other things. You can usually find "Bob" driving a car or at the Garden Theatre, ushering.

VIRGINIA VIOLA WOLLANDER

"Virginia"

Virginia is known by her quiet but studious manner around school. She's that little blonde girl occasionally seen bustling around the corridors between classes. Although she has taken no part in school activities, we still think she can provide a lot of fun for everybody that knows her. She has no plans for next year.

MARJORIE CONSTANCE WOOD

"Margie"

Intramural basketball (2, 3, 4); Varsity basketball (3); Exponent (4); Year Book Staff (4); "Campus Capers" (4); Glee Club (2, 4); Cheer Leader (4); Art Club (4).

"Margie" is that flaming red-headed girl who is so popular with the male portion of our high school. She has taken part in many activities of the school. It was always a good sight to see that flaming red-head of hers pop up in front of a cheering section for Greenfield. She is a girl with a lot of spirit and vigor.

EVELYN MARY MARGARET WOOD

"Eve"

Gregg Theory Certificate (4); Gregg Progress Pin (4); 60-80 Gregg Certificates (4); Intramural basketball (1, 4); Glee Club (3).

When you see that sweet black-haired little girl from the West End you'll know right off that she's full of ambition; that's "Eve" Wood for you. She is the medium type; not too quiet and not too noisy. In other words, she is just right. As yet, we don't know what she has planned.

CHARLES HARDING WOODARD

"Charley"

Student Council (4).

Quiet and efficient is "Charley," especially in his work in the Cabinet Shop. He is noted for his even disposition and willingness to work. One of the most popular boys in the shops, he's bound to succeed in his life after graduation.

GLADYS MAE WOODARD

"Woody"

Varsity basketball (4); Intramural basketball (2, 4).

Whenever you see that sweet smiling face, surrounded by crisp, brown curly hair, that's "Woody" all over. She has one of the nicest dispositions in the school. The male sex always seem to manage to get pretty close to her when she's walking through the corridors. But they seem to be out of luck, as it has been rumored that she has a friend.

JEANETTE MARIE WOODLOCK

"Jay"

Pro Merito (4 Secretary); Intramural basketball (1, 2); Year Book Staff (4); Dance Committee (4); Guidance Council (2 Secretary, 3 Secretary, 4); Student Council (4); Dramatic Club (2, 3); Alpha Beta Pi (3, 4).

If you see a tall, light-complexioned girl with blonde hair coming along the street, it probably will be "Jay." She has taken part in many activities of the school and is one of the ambitious type. She is one of the smart lasses of G. H. S. We do not know, as yet, what she plans to do.

MADELINE HARRIET WOTTON

"Madeline"

Pro Merito (4); Gregg 60-80 Certificates; Gregg Theory Certificate; Gregg Bronze Pin; Gregg Progress Pin; Commercial Club (4).

Madeline will make a good stenographer. She is very quiet, but smart as a whip. She is one of the more kind and gentle type of girls that we have in high schools nowadays. She hasn't taken part in many sports, but when it comes down to real good commercial work, Madeline can do it and do it well. As yet, we don't know what she has planned.

ELEANOR ELIZABETH YOBST

"Elly"

Pro Merito (4); Gregg 60-80 Certificates; Field Hockey (2, 3); Varsity basketball (2, 3); Glee Club (2); Commercial Club (4).

If you ever see a girl blushing like a rose in the corridors or in a room, nine times out of ten somebody has razed "Elly" about "Dave." She is a very smart girl, and is especially good in stenographic work. She also is employed at a local theatre ticket office.

ARTHUR KENYON YORK

"Porky"

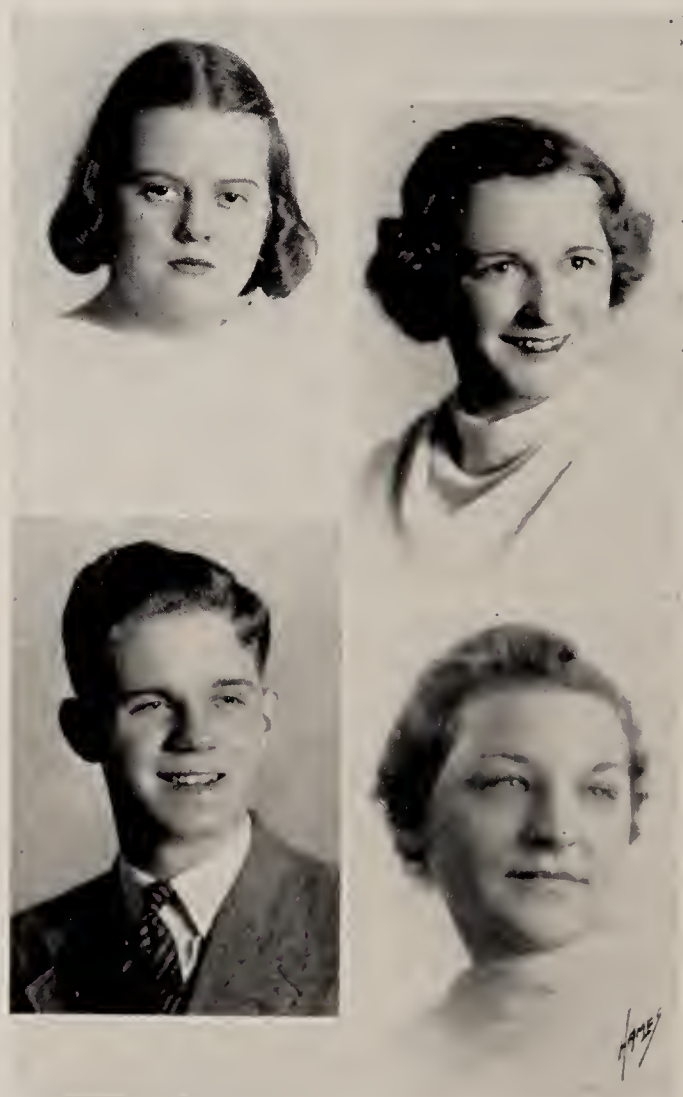

Track (2); Intramural basketball (3); Baseball Manager (4); Dance Committee (4); Student Council (4); Class Day Speaker (4).

When it comes to drafting "Porky" is right there. He is a quiet sort of boy around school, but is very popular with the boys he keeps company with. He also does a little bit of socializing on the side with a few girls. But we can't have that all of the time, can we, "Porky?" If you saw the track meet at the Fair in 1935, you saw him strutting his stuff for good old G. H. S.

HELEN JESSIE ZACHLOWSKI

"Zakie"

Helen hasn't taken part in many activities in high school but she is a very hustle-bustling type of girl; always willing to be of help to any of her friends. She is pretty popular with the boys, especially the boys from the southern end of this valley. Although she is very doubtful, sometimes, she usually pulls through with answers to hard questions in her subjects.

President's Address

PARENTS, Teachers, Classmates:

I, as President of the Class of 1938, have been delegated the pleasing task of welcoming you to this Class day program which has been prepared for your enjoyment and edification.

In this welcoming message I would like to take the liberty to say that it has been very pleasant for me to serve as President during our Senior year in this high school. I know that I have made many valuable acquaintances during my all-too-brief stay here. I shall remember my instructors and fellow students as true and helpful friends who have furnished me with some of the best moments of my life. I trust that we shall all retain many pleasant memories of our activities and life here and recall many worthwhile thoughts of our associations.

Soon we are to take our leave of this institution and are to follow our various courses. However, we must not become deluded and allow ourselves to believe that the pursuance of a career with ultimate success is to be an easy task.

When we observe the economic and financial condition of our nation, there is grave cause for alarm. We have upwards of seventeen millions unemployed and an ever-mounting public debt. The knowledge of these facts serves as a fetter to the hopes of many faint-hearted individuals and buffets their self confidence from them. Let it be known that I am no pessimist, although I do realize somewhat the immensity of the task before us.

I know that there is plenty of room in commerce and industry for clear-headed, aggressive, and industrious young people. The development of the essential qualities of success — you all know what they are, honesty, industry, perseverance, etc., — has been inculcated upon our minds since we entered this school. Moreover, I feel sure that, if we are all motivated by the G. H. S. ideals of loyalty, honor, and scholarship, we shall make a creditable showing at work or at other schools.

At this time, in closing, I, in behalf of the class, would like to thank our principal, teachers, and supervisors for their patience and efforts with us in order to make our stay here an unforgettable experience.

— Harrison Joseph Daysh

Civic Responsibility

THE statesmen who framed our constitution realized that only an enlightened and intelligent people could preserve a popular government. Therefore, a policy of free education was instituted for the primary purpose of teaching future citizens how to participate efficiently in a democracy. In view of that fact I deem it fitting to close our high school careers with remarks pertaining to that fundamental objective.

In the first place it can be truly said that our present system of government is undoubtedly, with all its faults, the best form of practical government devised by man. Under it this nation has grown faster than any other country in history. Under it human initiative and freedom of enterprise have brought us the greatest material prosperity ever known to the world. Under it the American standard of living has been raised higher than has any other in the universe. Many proofs could be given to show how our principles of liberty in speech, religion, and press have contributed to our national welfare. Indeed, we commence our life struggle with a most glorious heritage, one of which we as Americans can justifiably be extremely proud.

However, I am concerned with the future rather than with the past—with the problems that we graduates must encounter upon our acceptance of duties as citizens. I am contented, and I feel that all of us should be satisfied, not merely with lying supinely upon our plentiful laurels, but only with improving the character of our government. In recent times statements widely circulated about corruption, graft, and other forms of dishonesty amply prove that, if we are to prosper, we need an improvement in political life.

As civilization has progressed, people have demanded more services and regulation from their government. Thus, today, excluding relief employees, there are hundreds of thousands of laborers earning their livelihood through the administration of public affairs. The gigantic scope of local, state, and national civic agencies can hardly be realized. The water we drink, the food we eat, the means of communication we utilize, the transportation system we use, the schools in which we learn—all are controlled more or less by government. Indeed, there are few acts which we do that are not in some way affected by a statute.

Moreover, due to relief expenditures, the power in politics is greater than ever before. During this depression new agencies have been created and more money has been appropriated to go through the hands of politicians and their organized machines. Pork and patronage have reached unprecedented heights. Furthermore, the fact that indirect and direct taxes have been extremely high should alone be sufficient to convince every sane person that he thoughtfully concern himself with his government.

Yet it is surprising that so much popular indifference to politics exists. To prove this fact, we have only to determine the amazing percentage of people who fail to accept their civic responsibility—people who fail to exercise the franchise. Greenfield itself is a typical illustration. Out of a population of 15,000, 8,000 of whom are registered voters, nearly 5,000 attended the last election, and a total of 600 citizens presented themselves at the two party caucuses!

According to Frank R. Kent, noted commentator, there are two great misconceptions by the American people concerning politics. Many people consider elections more important than primaries, whereas the reverse is true. If a machine, due to the inactivity of the party members, dictates the party candidates at the primaries, it is foolish to vote for one of two men, neither of whom actually represents the best interests in the organization. Therefore, if we do intend to place efficient people in office, we must be sure to attend the primaries as well as the elections.

The second false idea about politics lies in the thought that national events are more important than local affairs. This folly can be demonstrated by the fact that national figures for their elections completely depend upon the success of their local machines. Otherwise, why would there be a great rush for political patronage throughout our nation? It is clear, then, that the only way to protect and improve our government lies in the close scrutiny of local officials who are absolutely dependent upon local primaries. Thus it is seen that, by each of us accepting civic responsibility in attending faithfully to political duties, we can strengthen our system of government.

In carrying out these duties there are four things for which everyone interested in a good administration should fight. First of all, we should demand honesty in counting votes. Second, we should seek shorter, clearer ballots. Involved ballots play into the hands of scheming politicians by oftentimes discouraging people from voting. Third, we should desire fewer elections in many localities. For is not one job well done better than several elections poorly attended? Fourth, we should cheer every step taken to place government employees under a civil service system based on merit. The realization of these aims will surely bring about greater governmental efficiency.

Of course, nothing worthwhile comes without effort. That it is true in this situation is very evident. Politics requires the weighing of evidence and the application of thought in making a decision. Politics does require time for study. Since working hours in industry are steadily decreasing, we shall have plenty of spare time. Would it not be worthwhile for us to devote a substantial portion of this leisure to politics? Would it not be worthwhile for us to curtail useless expenditure and graft? We would not only reduce the tax rate but also gain increased governmental efficiency and prestige.

In conclusion, classmates, our high school has been mindful of that fundamental purpose of a public education. It has, through training, equipped us well for good citizenship. We are armed with knowledge which we will soon have opportunity to utilize. We must shoulder our civic responsibilities together! Everyone must do his part. We must cooperate and urge others to do likewise in order to improve our civic life. Finally, no matter what rank each of us attains in life, we owe it to our country, to our descendants, and to our associates throughout the United States to exalt our American flag with better government.

Values of the Greenfield Vocational School

IN Greenfield, as in many towns and cities, the local industries have been confronted by the problem of obtaining workers who have had a more specific vocational training during their high school years. The Vocational Department of Greenfield High School is quite successfully solving this problem. The Vocational Department trains boys not only to be toolmakers, machinists, and sheet metal workers for the local tool companies, but in the printing and cabinet-making fields as well. In addition, girls receive training in household arts and in the management of tearooms, restaurants, and the like. One of the major objectives in the Vocational School is to develop in the student the sense of artistry becoming to his particular field.

The Vocational School is composed of two departments: the Unit Trade Machine Shop and the General Vocational. The Unit Trade Machine course offers a much more specific training than any of the courses offered by the General Vocational. All courses in the Vocational School are run on a week in shop and a week in related and academic studies basis. This system secures greater efficiency in both the shops and classrooms. In order to receive a mark, a student must be present at least ninety per cent of the total time. In the Vocational School the students are encouraged to attend regularly and promptly and to attain good ratings. When a student has attended for five consecutive weeks without being absent, tardy, or dismissed, upon application, he will receive additional credit of a certain percentage of his time: the percentage being dependent upon the marks received for this period. This time may be used to cover absences or time taken out for part time work, provided such arrangements are made beforehand in the office.

The Unit Trade Machine Shop Course was designed chiefly to provide apprentice machinists and toolmakers for the local tool companies. This year there are thirty-two boys enrolled in this course. The boys in this course must show an aptitude for mechanical work and must have the ability to learn the machine trade with the intent of following this type of work. The boys are instructed not only in accuracy, but in speed and efficiency as well. The related subjects taken in this course tie in directly with the work undertaken in the shop. The boys first draw the projects which they are to make the following week in shop. The mathematics and science taught also have a direct bearing on the work of a toolmaker, machinist, or draftsman. Initiative and reasoning are but two of the personal characteristics which may be developed by working in this course. A graduate of it will have a basic knowledge of machine and tool work that is a distinct advantage when applying for a job.

Although the courses are not as intensified, the General Vocational gives definite training along several lines. The General Metal, as the name implies, is a general training with automobiles, a little machine work, and sheet metal work. This course is training boys for the sheet metal departments of the tool companies and for work in garages and filling stations.

The Cabinet Shop gives a thorough training in the use of hand tools, wood-working machines, painting, and foundry work. The boys in this course are getting a start in the several trades of carpentry, pattern making, and painting.

Although little training is given towards newspaper printing because of the lack of larger equipment, the students in the print shop are acquainted with the principles of job printing and hand composition. Although, in years gone by, the print shop was not part of the Vocational School, many who are engaged as printers all over New England received their basic training there.

The Home Economics division is a training place for future homemakers, tea-room hostesses and restaurant workers. The girls here learn not only the correct management of a home, but how to prepare for things on a larger scale. They are taught the correct way to prepare food and to sew. They also learn how to launder clothes correctly and how to do fancy-work and other necessary handicraft. As with the Unit Trade Machine Course, the General Vocational related subjects apply directly to the work in hand in the shop.

As these courses are given, primarily, to fill vacancies in the local industries, the leaders in the industries are naturally interested in the progress of the Vocational School. The Advisory Board is made up of members of the local industries, and they are very instrumental in the purchasing of new equipment. They also aid greatly in the placement of the graduates of the school. As the state partly supports the Vocational School, it has supervisors who make regular inspections of the shops and classrooms. Their helpful criticisms aid greatly in the administration, as they have the advantages of the experiences of other schools throughout the state.

The Vocational School not only helps the local industries to secure partially trained help, the training of whom would otherwise be quite expensive, but it starts the students on an honorable and worthwhile career.

Yours truly. Will you read your notes back, please, Miss Riley?

Riley — G. L. Brown, Secretary of Gregg Convention, 423 Gregg Building, London, England.
Dear Sir: This letter is to introduce Mr.
Robert A. Bond who has been employed by us for several years. You will find him agreeable and honest. Mr. Bond is attending your convention because of his early schooling in Gregg
Shorthand and because of its worth to him now in his work. He also wants to become acquainted with the new developments in shorthand. I am sure he will appreciate anything you can do for him. Yours truly.

Marshall — Very good, Miss Riley. Miss Kent, will you show Miss Riley around the office?

Kent — (Goes over to the adding machine.) We use all type-easy typewriters in the office. Of course, you know about typewriters. Mr.
Newton will show you how to use the adding machine. Mr. Newton, I would like you to meet Miss Riley who is applying for the vacant position. Will you please show her how to use the adding machine?

Newton — How do you do, Miss Riley? Have you ever used this kind of machine?

Riley — No, not one of this make.

Newton — Well, this is a 10-key board machine with a home row the same as a typewriter has.
It has a multiply key which you press down when you want to multiply. But in adding, you register your figures so— 1 - 3 - 8 then pull down the crank once, then register your other figures the same way. If the total is desired, pull crank once, press down total key, and pull the crank again. Would you like to try it?

Riley — Yes, if I may. (She adds some figures.)

Newton — On this machine you can add, subtract, and multiply.

Riley — Is this machine accurate?

Newton — Yes, the machine is accurate. Of course, the person adding could read the wrong numbers, or register them incorrectly, but if he realized before he pulls the crank down, he could do what we call, "clear" the machine by this little lever on the front.

Riley — I see. It doesn't seem very complicated.

Kent — Over here we have the ditto machine we use when we want a number of copies of one paper. Mr. Newton uses this machine a lot. Won't you explain this, too?

Newton — This machine is run by hand. First of all you type your material with a special carbon paper, saving an original to file. Clean off the roll before putting the carbon type-written side down. Roll it on once. You may have to adjust the paragraphing and length of line. Take off carbon paper. By rolling the carbon it transfers the type from the paper to the roll. You have to put the paper in one sheet at a time.

Kent — We also have a stapling device used to fasten papers together. You slip two or more papers under here and tap this head down. (Actually fastens some papers.)

Riley — I think you are very up-to-date with your office machines.

Kent — Thank you. We think it pays to have modern equipment in our office.

Riley — What kind of filing system do you use?

Kent — We use straight alphabetical filing in that cabinet, with individual folders for our most active correspondents. We use only a little numerical filing, as we find the alphabetical more practical for our needs.

Riley — Yes, I think the alphabetical filing is used more than the numerical.

Kent — (As both walk toward Marshall.) None of these machines is difficult to operate. You just have to get used to them.

Marshall — Are you going to be busy Monday morning at nine, Miss Riley.

Riley — (Surprised.) Why, no Mr. Marshall.

Marshall — Then if you will be here Monday morning at nine, the job is yours.

Riley — (Pleased.) Thank you, Mr. Marshall.

Tary Gordon — Hello — Hey, Miss Riley, are going to be busy Monday night at nine?

Class History

TIME: 1958.

PLACE: Erehwon.

CHARACTERS: King Ydobon II and Queen Ydobon in the Royal Ecalap.

(The King and Queen with their finest robes on and shoes off are sitting on their thrones — because their feet hurt — and are waiting for Count Noaccount.)

K. — Rush, rush, that's all we do, day after day!

Q. — It has always been that way, even when we were youngsters in school.

K. — Do you remember when we graduated? Why! we should celebrate. It was just twenty years ago this week.

Q. — We sort of got cheated as we had only three years of high school.

K. — And had to stay three years in junior high!

Q. — When we finally got to high school, "Harry" Daysh was elected President.

K. — "Nan" Grogan and "Jig" Rurak were Vice-Presidents. They had an easy job.

Q. — Mary Bergeron, Secretary, and Mary Ethier, Treasurer, weren't over-worked either.

K. — Then along came the Sophomore Reception. The high-hat upperclassmen kept their eyes on us watching for some nervous unfortunate to make some embarrassing mistake.

Q. — I guess we showed them a thing or three.

K. — Say, you know we had quite a few huskies on the football team that fall.

Q. — Sure, there was "Jig," Carroll to you, Rurak, the lady-killer, "Louie" Batinski, Clarence Gaimari, and oh, don't let me forget, "Henie" Becklo.

K. — That year our school won the basketball tournament at M. S. C. and the Valley League championship in baseball.

Q. — Golly, you know we're pretty good, but —

K. — Yeh, but we hate to admit it.

Q. — By the way, do you know what Sophomore means?

K. — Sure I do. It means "wise fool." I got you on that one.

Q. — Well, anyhow, the next fall we came back as Juniors with a lot to talk about (which is nothing unusual).

K. — Gerard (Blast 'em Open) Rohde was our energetic president.

Q. — "Nan" Grogan and "Jig" Rurak still held their "white-collar" jobs as Vice-Presidents.

K. — Mary Bergeron was again Secretary, and Elinor Koonz was entrusted with the class bank account.

Q. — Then we sponsored the Sophomore Reception. Alma Chaffee, a newcomer from Springfield, stirred everyone's soul when she sang "A Rendezvous with a Dream" and "Take My Heart." Eleanor Dimond took the spotlight as she sang "Me and the Moon," and there was a tap-dancing specialty by Maxine Graves.

K. — Remember the blowers in the German Band? Let's see, there was Rodger Smith, Otto Nau, "Jimmie" Ryan, and Gerard Rohde.

Q. — Remember how disgusted the patrons and patronesses were when the stags started rolling the pumpkins around?

K. — That year the Silver G requirements were revised by the Student Council. Only 18 points were needed instead of 20.

Q. — Then our class put on the show, "Pink Slip," to make some money.

K. — Yeh, everybody thought they could go only if they got a pink slip. What simpletons!

Q. — There were seven Junior girls on the Varsity basketball team; — Helen Bonk, Betty Crossman, Eleanor Dimond, Edith McLaren, Rita Powers, and "Marge" Wood.

K. — Our Senior year went by as fast as it came. Harrison Daysh was President.

Q. — Yes, and Vice-Presidents were "Nan" Grogan and Gerard Rohde; Mary Bergeron was Secretary, and Elinor Koonz, Treasurer.

K. — Then came the fair, as well as the cheering and track meet. We won the cheering cup under the able leadership of "Ros" Parker, Rita Powers, "Pickles" Briggs, "Marge" Wood, and Maxine Graves. They were enough to make anyone cheer.

Q. — Football got under way right after the fair.

Our class representatives were Carroll Rurak, Louis Batinski, George Babits, and "Tedo" McCain.

K. — "Red" Oakman, "Stan" Hood, Donald Murley, and "Snoz" Gaimari cannot be forgotten either.

Q. — We gave the football dance in honor of the team, an event which turned out to be a huge success.

K. — Then there was the Senior play, when Maxine Graves and Otto Nau played the leading roles.

Q. — Yes, and George Babits quite naturally took the part of the villain.

K. — Others taking part were Donald Murley, Louis Gendler, Elinor Nason, Edith McLaren, Marion Catlin, Gordon Underwood, "Tommy" Belton, and Albert De Sautels.

Q. — Let's get back to sports. Our basketball team got revenge for the football defeat from Turners by beating them three times.

K. — That was the time when husky Henry Becklo was responsible for our many victories, and Carroll Rurak made a basket for the other team while thinking of his girl.

Q. — Let's see, then the Band and Glee Club put on numerous concerts.

K. — Also the Musical Festival was held in Greenfield with representatives from numerous schools.

Q. — The girls' basketball team had a successful season with Rita Powers the star scorer.

K. — Then we put on a dance in a desperate effort to make money for our class.

Q. — Alpha Beta Pi and Delta Sigma Rho held dances at the Weldon and the Mansion House.

K. — Yes, I remember, I went to those. Gee, I wish I were young again.

Q. — So do I, because I wouldn't make the mistake of living with you again.

K. — Our baseball team gave our rivals a thing or two to think about when Capt. Rurak struck out 23 batters in one game.

Q. — Our track team didn't do so bad, especially bashful Batinski who set new discus and shot-put records.

K. — Other members of our class helped to make our tennis team a success.

Q. — Then came the "exams," our Class Banquet, the Commencement Dance, and Graduation.

K. — Well, those were certainly pleasant memories; our high school days when we were both young and free.

Q. — Yes, and now that we're not, we might as well go to sleep and dream that we are.

Class Prophecy

SCENE: Office of Daily Blah, Biggest and only newspaper in West Gill.
TIME: Anytime.

CHARACTERS: Editor of the Daily Blah
Snoopy Snoo — Star Reporter.

Editor-in-chief is talking to Snoopy-Snoo, the sniftest news snatcher in the country.

Ed.— What's news in the news today, Snoopy?

SS.— Well, Chief, I went around and looked up our old classmates of '38.

Ed.— What did you find?

SS.— Well, that mad Scientist, "Charlie" Ireland, was finally tamed by that assistant of his, Floryce Kohler.

Ed.— You don't say! I heard "Louie" Gendler tried to get a picture of the wedding, but his camera wouldn't work.

SS.— As usual. Well, the other day I slipped and fell, hurting my ankle. I had to go to the hospital, and who took care of me but Helen Broughan! Among the nurses who attended me were Katherine Conley, Julia Couture, Katherine Cramer, and, lastly, none other than my old friend, "Peggy" Malloy. She has an engagement ring as big as an apple! "Phil" Koshinsky gave it to her. Just to think of the way they used to fight in Retail Selling makes me shudder!

Ed.— Yes, how times have changed! However, speaking of nurses reminds me of a few other girls that had that ambition.

SS.— Oh, you mean Marion Catlin, Caroline Bailey, Betty Cotton, and Arline Cowdrey. What ever became of them?

Ed.— Well, every single one of them married cross-eyed doctors.

SS.— Well, I hear that Evelyn Wood, Helen Popko, June Price, and Mary Pachalis are running a home for the feeble minded now.

Ed.— Say, Snoopy, what ever became of "Kenny" Boutwell?

SS.— Oh, he and Richard Burnham were electrocuted while fooling around with an old radio set.

Ed.— Too bad! Such nice boys, too. Did Reverend John Rucci preach the funeral service?

SS.— Yes, and those nice big strong husky boys—"Bob" Washer, Paul Welcome, "Bob" Suhl, George "Hank" Taylor, and "Eddie" Lopatka—were the pall bearers.

Ed.— I see where Clinton Jarvis broke a leg.

SS.— Yes, he was runing after Elsie Mushovic with some worms, and he tripped and fell.

Ed.— Say, Snoopy, we got out a sports extra today.

SS.— Why?

Ed.— Well, first of all "Billy" Sadowski ran ninety yards for a touchdown but found out he ran the wrong way!

SS.— You don't say!

Ed.— And then they put "Jig" Rurak in jail.

SS.— Now what did he do?

Ed.— Oh, he made a wild throw to first baseman, "Pete" Slahetka, and it hit "Chubby" Johnson on the head.

SS.— Well, I found out today that Martha Alger was the National Tennis Champion again, and that "Louie" Batinski played and won for the All-American Banana Eating Team for the third time.

Ed.— Aw, that's nothing. "Stinky" Thurlow was elected high and mighty waterboy by the National Association of Waterboys.

SS.— So what! Deveney became golf champ yesterday by winning over "Joe" Moylan. "Bob" Strange caddied for "Ray," and "Peanut" Thayer did the same for "Joe."

Ed.— You don't mean to tell me?

SS.— What ever happened to Leo Misuta?

Ed.— Oh, he quit sports and along with "Don" Murley became a gigolo.

SS.— Did you know that "Joey" Kuchieski was playing center ice for the Peorice Puckitus?

Ed.— No, but I do know that "Stan" Hood and "Billy" Carroll landed in the hospital as a result of playing hockey.

SS. — What happened to them?

Ed. — Oh, they bumped heads while trying to body check "Al" Petti.

SS. — Say, Chief, I see where "Mike" Cocco was crowned king of the lightweight boxers.

Ed. — He knocked out Leon "Bonerach" Martin in the 5th round. Now "Stash" Boncek is challenging him to a fight. "Schnozz" Gaimari is center on the East Gill University football team, and "Mike" Morvant is still throwing the bull in Mexico.

SS. — Talking about football, "Don" Brown has invented a football with handles on it to keep the backfield from fumbling.

Ed. — It should help a lot.

SS. — "Mac" McCain finally quit football. I hear he and that girl in Pittsfield have quite a family already.

Ed. — Whatever became of those two sweet girls, Barbara Butement and Emilie Baker?

SS. — Oh, they're running a soda bar in South Deerfield. That young "Baby" Koonz eloped with Rodger Smith, the A. & P. man. Roger Simpter was best man, though, and Agnes Lockhart finally woke up long enough to be bridesmaid.

Ed. — I see where Maxine Graves finally gave in and said "yes" the other day to that persevering Otto Nau.

SS. — Oh, that's nothing. George Babits and Betty Crossman Babits are well on their way to raising a family of athletes.

Ed. — "Dick" Cade, the lopsided mathematician, and Mary Bergeron finally middle-aisled it, but it took a club to make "Dick" agree.

SS. — Talking about weddings there was a big one yesterday. Rita Powers, the Oil Heiress, married Gordon Underwood, man-about-town. The bridesmaids were Eleanor Burke, Rosebelle Burnham, Gertrude Carpenter, and Sophie Batinski, who are now married to George Caron, Harry Coates, Silvin Moschen, and "Nick" Powlovich. The flower girl was little Clarabelle Gray, daughter of John Gray, the well-known widower.

Ed. — Aw, let's talk about something else.

SS. — Well, did you hear they've got to fix the dome on the Capitol because Senator "Bud" Allen talked so much in the Senate, and Harry Daysh, our Representative, let off such a speech of $5.00 words that it just lifted the dome?

Ed. — You don't say? I hear our G-man, "Bernie" Gaudry, is in the news.

SS. — Yes, he and "Don" Cromack caught up with "Bill" Two-Gun Crouse.

Ed. — Did they arrest him?

SS. — No, they wanted to sell him a ticket to the Policeman's Ball.

Ed. — I see where Sergeant-Detective "Joe" Sullivan is investigating the mysterious songbird, Alma Chaffee.

SS. — His very efficient staff, William "Sherlock" Cerauskis and Merle "Hawkshaw" Cranson are assisting him.

Ed. — Gerard "Schleeperman" Rohde, the district-attorney, was "bumped off" the other day. He tried to get nosey, and the Shop Gang, led by Chester "Killer" Gloski, gave him the works.

SS. — They say "Machine Gun" Paul Johnson did the dirty work.

Ed. — I heard "Joe" Hickey pulled the trigger.

SS. — Well, anyway, Doctor Albert "Einstein" De Sautels pronounced the death verdict.

Ed. — I have on good authority that they took "Zipper" Maniatty down to Northampton.

SS. — Yes, "Jack" Lenihan went along to keep him company and to see that he didn't get lonesome.

Ed. — Yah, "Bill" Orr is down there, too, but he's only a guard.

SS. — You know "Babe" Short is the fat lady in the circus that's in town. J. Putnam Peters is the Wild Man from Borneo, and Lowell Perry is billed as "The Man Who Sleeps Forever."

Ed. — "Jimmie" Ryan, the lion tamer, is still trying to tame Pauline Briggs, but it looks like a hopeless task.

SS. — "Bill" Rooney is the strong man, and Walter Sokoloski hangs by one hand on a trapeze.

Ed. — Henry Brunelle is fired out of a cannon every day just to show those females who sit in the fifty-cents seats.

SS. — "Jack" Allen fell and was killed the other day. He was hanging by his teeth at the top of the tent when he saw Virginia Putnam sitting in the stands with "Charlie" Radle. He opened his mouth to yell; that's all.

Ed. — He was such a nice boy, too.

SS. — I see that Elinor "Garbo" Nason and Dave "Gable" Rediker are in the movie at the Garden this week. "Ray" Houghton plays the part of Deadmond, the villain, but he reforms and succumbs to the charms of Fay "Dietrich" Kimball.

Ed.— "Fred" Menard is in the co-feature, "Gone With the Windski." The climax of the picture comes when Gladys Woodard is kidnapped by her brother, Charles "Snow Black" Woodard, and his gang, "Dopey" Norman Carey, "Sleepy" Russell Smith, "Grumpy" John Harris, "Doc" "Bob" Peffer, "Happy" David Baker, "Sneezy" "Jimmy" Cahill, and "Bashful" "Gene" Hammond. Some bunch! Well, anyhow, they take Gladys to the villain's cabin (Henry Becklo is the villain), but in rides our hero and saves the day.

Do "Bob" Wheeler, Earl Cash, and Roland Gordon still work at the Garden?

SS. — Shucks no, they own Radio City now. You ought to see their wives running around in nice new Fords. They've all changed their names. Helen Brzezinski Cash has changed to Helen Cashmere, Althea Brigham Wheeler has changed to Arithmathea van Wheelock, and Nina Britton Gordon has suddenly changed to Nina Britton Gordonworthy. Such people! Must be swell to have money.

Ed.— Eleanor Yobst has the only theatre in America run entirely by women. Helen Zachlowski sells tickets all day, while Helen Tamulis sells them at night. Some of the ushers are Madeline Wotton, Anna Trzpis, Johanna Visser, Virginia Wollander, and Marjorie Schrader.

SS. — By the way, Chief, there's a fine stage show at the Lawler.

Ed.— Who's in it?

SS. — Oh, they've got a swell chorus consisting of Muriel Hartwell, "Bea" Hayden, Justine Hunt, Mildred Hayes, Agnes Newton, and a few others. Mary Ethier is the blues singer, and Rita O'Neil and Ernest Sargent do a crazy dance number.

Ed.— Well, Armand Foote is now President of the Peoria, Gill and North Adams Railroad. On his private train he's got a nightclub and a swimming pool. The life guard is that handsome Romeo, "Red" Oakman. The other day he saved the 5 & 10 cent heiress, Grace Cullen.

There's a swell floor show every night. Zita Grotz leads the band, and Rhea Desautels, Barbara Englehardt, and Eleanor Felix are chorines. Are they cute! Stuart and "Marge" Goddard do a brother-and-sister act, while Nina and "Mike" Lawor are their friendliest rivals. The Goddards do a bubble dance, and the Lawors, a fan dance. They are both popular.

SS. — They must have a grand time.

Ed.— They do, but what became of Ruth Casey, Evelyn Lovett, Mary Scannell, and "Dot" Sessler?

SS. — Oh, they just about control Kresge's stores now.

Ed.— I knew if they'd work hard enough they would. I hear that Louise Ball is night club entertainer, and Harry Stone is a dancer in the same place.

SS. — Well, how did Stella Lewkowicz and Jeanette Woodlock make out in life?

Ed.— Oh, they teamed up and went to Normal school. They're down in the first grade teaching the kids their A, B, C's. "Dick" Lincoln, who became a chemist, had an accident. He thought nitro-glycerine was glue and threw it in a wastebasket.

SS. — You know "Mel" Abrahamson had somewhat the same experience only he thought a stick of dynamite was a piece of candy.

Ed.— Well, he always did like blowouts.

SS. — Speaking of blowouts, Lawrence Lamery, President of the Economy Stores of America, had a big party the other night. A few of those present were "Bob" Norman and his wife, Anna Krysin, "Bob" Newton and fiancée, Lila Lambert, and "Glad" O'Neil and "Tony" Ogonis. All night all they did was the Sour Grape — you know that new dance.

Ed.— "Frannie" Bulman, Helen Bonk, Helen Ryan, "Herbie" Monson, and Elizabeth Swider are still debating which is best, democracy or dictatorship. The last I heard the democracy team won, but Lord knows what they're doing now.

SS. — Say, did you know that "Tommy" Belton finally got to be a big league ball player?

Ed.— I didn't hear that, but I do know that "Ben" Blum is riding around in a Model T Ford now. It makes a big difference when Papa won't pay for the gas any more.

SS. — I know that Roslyn Parker and Shirley Campbell met a couple of dukes from dear old Russia.

Ed. — Our two little girl scouts, "Margie" Wells and Helen Glasle, are big girl scouts now, but George Milkey is still the drummer of the band.

SS. — I hear they let Frank Green and Gilbert Dunnell sweep the floors in the jail just to keep them out of mischief. "Johnny" Isles was pounding some nails in a board when Jane Pettengill walked by and vamped him, and he smashed his thumb.

Ed. — Remember Nan Grogan?

SS. — The name sounds a bit familiar.

Ed. — Well, the other day I heard that she is running a home for old maids. Who'd ever have thought she'd end up like that. Stanley Godleske is a big shot now. He's Admiral of the Gill Navy.

SS. — Speaking of the Gill Navy, I hear that "Bob" Handy and Frank Lala are up there working on a new battleship.

Ed. — Yes, they're up there, but they've got plenty of company with Flora Felton and Stella Krol working in Squire Leroy Ormsby's hash house.

SS. — I hear they appointed John Lucas sheriff with Kenneth Martin and John Staiger as his deputies.

Ed. — They'll be plenty busy with "Johnny" Wandeloski and those two Sullivan boys, Richard and Russell, on their hands.

SS. — Newcomb Smead is working in the post office there under Postmaster Richard Parks.

Ed. — "Ghandi" Russo runs a dime-a-dance place. For hostesses he has Virginia Royce, Barbara Rockwood, and Agnes Ross, and Olga Romanovich. He's making plenty of money now. Helen Sadlowski is a beauty expert now. Doris Robichaud, Virginia Stafford and Stella Stahelek all work for her.

SS. — Well, "Art" York bought out the pickle works in South Deerfield. He's doing all right for himself.

Ed. — Does Lucille Viens still swing hash down at the Depot Restaurant?

SS. — She's still there, but she married the boss; now she's boss. Phyllis Smith got lockjaw and died. She talked so much and so long that it was the only way to end it all.

Ed. — The other day Florence MacDonald gave a dinner for some old girl friends, and what a jam session they had! You should have heard talking machine, Catherine O'Hara, talking to quiet little Alma Lapointe, telling her all about Madeline Lawrence's farewell party, given to her by Lucille Marcoux and "Marge" Martin. Madeline went back to France to join her husband, Count de Findlestein.

SS. — Well, Edith McLaren and Ruth McNaughton are running a school in Hollywood for the actors' children.

Ed. — Did you know that they hanged Leonard Martin over in Riverside for horse stealing? After it was all over, they found out "Mitch" Scepanski had cut the rope.

SS. — I just found out that the Blonde Hussy of the movies is none other than our own "Dot" Seaman and that Frankenstein was only Richard Smith without make-up.

Ed. — "Eddie" Stange set a new record for sleeping the longest. Seems as if he could go on forever.

SS. — The rumor that "Red" Wood is going to elope with a Mr. X from the South Sea Islands has been denied by Miss Wood. We hear that Helen Musiak is going instead.

Ed. — You know, Snoopy, we've got to do something about this attempt by Winona Upton to start another paper here. She's got Eleanor Dimond and Marjorie LaPalme looking over the situation for her.

SS. — Well, we'll have to get Sylvia Spencer to write an "Advice to Lovelorn" column for us. Then we'll send Mabel Gardner, the professional "rassler" and "Betty" Smith, her manager, to take care of the whole bunch.

Ed. — I guess that ought to do it all right. Well, Snoopy, our class hasn't done so bad after all, has it?

SS. — No, I think it's done very well.

Ed. — Come on down to the drug store and we'll celebrate by having a half dozen ice cream sodas.

SS. — O. K. Wait 'til I get my hat.

THE END

Soaring to Adventure

PERHAPS you are all well acquainted with certain everyday quotations. However, how many of you have actually read between the lines and gained greater access to the truths of these maxims? Take, for instance, the following well-known excerpt:

"Books are keys to wisdom's treasure;
Books are keys to lands of pleasure;
Books are paths that upward lead;
Books are friends. Come, let us read."

As this familiar selection expresses the many benefits to be derived from reading, so does it emphasize the great part that books play in transporting us to new and unfamiliar times and places. We visit unknown countries and learn about other eras; in addition, we become acquainted with strange conditions and travel amid alien and unfamiliar modes of living. In other words, books not only show us unknown places but also make us a part of the customs and traditions of these people. Therefore, instead of relying on automobiles, boats, and speedy airplanes to carry us to new lands, let us all be whisked away by a magic carpet of literary ingenuity and skill.

First of all, "Afoot in England" will hurry us across the ocean to an unfamiliar country. By means of this book we can travel in four hours through a country of changing landscape. All about us are the typical birds of England—the finch, the thrush, the daw, and the swallow. As we cycle with Hudson throughout rural England, we see a landscape not unlike that of our own New England—rolling hills, enclosed valleys, and small woodlands. Later, accompanying the author to another section of England, we find that heathlands and shrubs have replaced the green hills and majestic trees. Reading about the dense fogs and mists gives a realistic picture of the discomfort which the author must have felt. Indeed, provided we have read "Afoot in England," we can almost say that this country has been the object of one of our actual visits.

However, why should we remain in England?

A copy of Halliburton's "Glorious Adventure" will swiftly transport us to Greece and the rest of eastern Europe. Therefore, we shall now leave England and steer our carpet to the shores of the Mediterranean Sea.

"A Glorious Adventure" opens the gateways of Europe to us; this book accompanies us along the same route that Ulysses took so long ago. If we were ordinary tourists, we would tour Athens by day; on the other hand, provided we possess a copy of Halliburton's book, we can defy the guards and pay a midnight visit to this ancient fortress. Such a scene as this—the bright moon making weird shadows on those monuments which tell of the former glory of Athens—is a new experience in our lives. Just as realistic are the rest of the places visited: Marathon, Troy, and Mount Olympus. Thus, although we actually read "Glorious Adventure," we shall always feel that eastern Europe has really been visited by us.

Naturally, books do not confine us readers merely to our modern world; such novels as "Gold," written by Stewart White, owe their popularity to the fact that they tell of another period in history. When we read "Gold," we immediately become a part of that mad group of nineteenth-century people. The typical desire for adventure causes us to relive those events and to become interested in that new and undeveloped country. Mining towns and ports like San Francisco are pictured for us; cheating and crime are everyday occurrences in these places. Consequently, we find ourselves in a district where money is spent freely and prices are higher than most of us can imagine. In California at this time rents averaged over a hundred dollars a week, and bags of gold were heedlessly lost in games of chance. Truly, this is an atmosphere into which nothing but a book like "Gold" can gain us entrance.

Now, due to the fact that a magic carpet can take us anywhere, let us go back many years and journey to France. Dickens' "A Tale of Two Cities" is an ideal book to carry us realistically into the civil strife of that country. Perusing the pages of this historical novel is like flying over France and England and taking a general view of the two countries. How far we are from the more familiar strikes, unions, and wars! How insecure we feel at the lack of organized government! How horrified we are at the guillotine and its toll on human life! Obviously, we are now visiting a period in which France was ruled by a mob of liberty-crazed people. A foreign language, strange people, and the war-torn city of Paris are combined to give us a picture quite unlike that of our modern America.

Of course, our magic carpet serves not only to show us a different time and another place but also to bring us into close contact with the conditions of that time and place. Therefore, as the individualistic qualities of Darnay, Lucie Manette, and Carton are impressed upon us, our carpet alights and sets us in the midst of a tumultuous world. It is as if we were dropped right into the circle of some close friends and allowed to share their problems and worries. Even an actual journey to France couldn't familiarize us with the motives and emotions of these Parisians. For instance, what could be more touching than Darnay's very unfair trial? Such injustices as these are so far from the life which we know! Never do we feel such admiration for any man as when Sydney Carton says, "It's a far better thing that I do than I have ever done before; it's a far better land that I go to than I have ever known." These words, spoken just before Carton was to sacrifice himself for the happiness of someone he loved, give us a picture of a kind of human strife which can reach us only through books. In this way, we have travelled far, not only by seeing eighteenth-century France but also by delving into the problems of that era.

Thus, we have seen many parts of the world and various types of people. Moreover, it's been such a pleasant way to travel—no crowded hotels, no difficulties in exchanging money, and no need for an interpreter. Although we are now leaving our magic carpet, we can look forward to a future filled with similar adventures. In other words, as long as we are able to read books, we shall never lack a carpet on which to travel throughout the world and throughout the ages.

The Constitution of the United States and What It Means to the American People

OUT of a whirlpool of confusion and a turmoil of violence there appeared through the mist of insecurity this champion and defender of American rights and ideals. The Constitution of the United States appeared to those weak and struggling states in 1789 as a torch of democracy, lighting the way to security, prosperity, and liberty. The Constitution of the United States was the first ray of light to penetrate the bleak despair of despotism, and solidly confirm on a substantial basis the dreams and ideals of the first settlers of the United States.

The United States of America was founded by people of all classes, all religions, and all races. However, no matter what race, religion, or class, they all had one ideal, one cherished hope, and one desire. That one vision nearest the hearts of all Americans was to make America a place where they could live with rights, with justice, with self-determination, and with good fellowship. Likewise, they desired to inaugurate a system of government paramount to the best interests and needs of the masses of the people. Consequently, in a spirit of liberty, idealism, and charity, we approach the making of the Constitution of the United States.

Turning back to those tense years after the Revolutionary War we find the condition of the Union in a hectic state. The weakness of the government under the Articles of Confederation was apparent. Consequently, internal strife due to economic and social policies was threatening to divide the Union into separate states. The lack of finances, the diversified opinions, and the conflicts in social orders were quickly degenerating the structure of the Union. Clearly and emphatically something had to be done. Hegemony was lacking; it had to be procured if the country were to survive and fulfill its cherished ideals.

Realizing the necessity for providing the country with a strong central government designed to meet the needs of its people, we find a federal delegation assembled at Philadelphia in 1787. Among the delegates, from all but one of the several states, we find such champions of American liberty as George Washington, Alexander Hamilton, Rufus King, Roger Sherman, and Benjamin Franklin. The immensity of the problem of devising a plan of government was very apparent to these men. They had to devise a constitution representing the democratic ideals of America. It had to give the government power without sacrificing the rights of its citizens; it had to give the citizens liberty without sacrificing law and order. To attain this medium required many months of tedious debates, agreements, and compromises. The determination and patience of these sons of liberty finally resulted in the Constitution of the United States, which formulated a plan of government devised on the ideals and wishes of the American people.

In brief, the structure of the Constitution is simple but complete. It allows the government to be made up of three departments, the legislative, the executive, and the judiciary. Moreover, it is representative of the people and of the various states in the union. Likewise, the Constitution was so regulated as to distribute equally, and limit the powers of the various organs of government. In addition, there were provisions for relations between states, methods of ratification, and plans for amendments. Consequently, the outcome of the Federal Convention in 1789 was a proposed democratic plan of government for the United States of America.

Although the formation of the Constitution was bitterly contested by states and individuals, its ratification was the object of severe altercation. Only by the dauntless and untiring efforts of the Federalists such as John Jay, Alexander Hamilton, and John Madison, was the Constitution brought before the American people and accepted by them. Moreover, the writings of these men in "The Federalists" did much to win the states to the adoption of the Constitution.

Finally, after an antagonistic struggle in New York and several other states, the Constitution was ratified by the necessary number of states, New Hampshire being the ninth state to ratify in the month of June, 1789. As a result, with the Constitution being ratified by the necessary number of states, it became the supreme law of the land. Consequently, after the Bill of Rights had been added two years later, we find the Constitution becoming increasingly important and meaningful to the American people.

At the present era the fate of America and the continuance of democracy is dependent on what the Constitution of the United States means to the masses of the people. The American people, through their interpretation and idealism of this great document, are the watchdogs of liberty and opportunity the world over. The Constitution has become so meaningful to the American people that its material and spiritual benefits have become the envy of a hundred nationalities. In fact, the people of America have so developed and realized the desirable elements of a normal life by their zealous interpretation of the Constitution that the one word — America — stands to the people of the world at large as a shining beacon of liberty.

The greater part of the citizens of this country came here to live an abundant, joyful, and peaceful life. For what reason did they think that the United States of America could and would provide these elements of a desirable life? The most emphatic and veracious answer to this question can be found in our Constitution. They knew, and we still know, that the Constitution can provide and will guarantee to provide every citizen of the United States, if he so desires, a worthwhile and successful life. What more could the Constitution mean to the home-loving, liberty-loving American citizen?

In those illustrious and patriotic words (from the "Pledge of Allegiance"), "one nation, indivisible, with liberty and justice for all," can be found the true sentiment of the meaning of the Constitution to the masses of the American people. It gives every American citizen a thrill of pride and loyalty to repeat these words. All over the country we find Americans expressing these ideals in this pledge. What could be more symbolic of the meaning of the Constitution of the United States of America to the American people than to have hundreds of thousands of them repeating the Pledge of Allegiance which embodies the fundamental motive of the Constitution?

Lastly, the Constitution means to the American people, a permanent guarantee of everlasting independence. That independence is the only known device for forwarding the progress of mankind to a more cultural and prosperous life. Backward go the countries who have no plan of government that provides a democratic form of government; forward goes the United States whose Constitution means to its people the necessary advantages of social and economic integrity!

What did the Constitution mean in those turbulent days after the Revolution? It meant the lifting of the United States from the dark oblivion of chaos into the brightness of prosperity. What does the Constitution mean today? It means the only hope for future mankind!

Ivy Ode

Music: Cornell University Alma Mater Song

Classmates all, we stand together
As one voice we sing,
Lifting up our voices ever
To the Ivy sing.

Scholarship and Loyalty
Honor forward wend.
Our three years in Greenfield High School
Now have reached their end.

Onward where our lives are op'ning,
Destinies unknown.
Em'rald ivy ever growing
Mem'ries all our own.

— Dorothy Gladys Seaman

Class Song

Music: America the Beautiful

Three years have passed;
The time has come
When we must bid farewell
To Alma Mater,
G. H. S.,
Where faith and honor dwell.
Of thee we sing!
Your praises ring!
You've aided us to see
The meaning of true scholarship
And constant loyalty.

We'll venture forth
Into this world
Of strident stormy strife.
With purpose strong
We'll move along
The rocky road of life.
Always sincere
And honest, too,
We will not deviate
Until we reach the goal we seek,
The Class of '38!
